Meeting of Hazen Road Pomona Grange Saturday—A Wedding—Other Locals

The six subordinate granges which combined from Hazen Road Pomona grange, No. 15 will meet at Danville Saturday, Sept. 28. The committee appointed have made arrangements for a banquet at noon. All members who have not taken the Pomona degree are invited to the banquet and the obligation will be given at the afternoon session. Following is the program: Afternoon session: piano duet, Danville grange; welcome, master of Danville grange; response, E. C. Goodrich; song, Cabot grange; recitation, Eugene Domey; reading, G. J. Perkins; recitation, member of Valley grange; essay, Our Children and What They Require in the Farm Home Today, Mrs. John Stevens; Laws Beneficial to the Farmer That Ought to be Passed this Fall, General discussion; music, choir.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harvey of St. Johnsbury spent Saturday and Sunday at the Elm House and Sunday at the Hazen Road Pomona Grange. A very quiet wedding took place last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hunt at eight o'clock when their oldest daughter, Edna was united in marriage to Alonzo Page. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Currier in the presence of only the immediate families. The bride was prettily dressed in light blue silk. After the ceremony a delicious repast was served. There were many gifts, including gold, silver and linen. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Page went at once to the home farm where Mr. Page is a successful farmer.

Miss Horseford of Burlington is the guest of Miss Christine Currier. There will be a harvest supper, apron and candy sale and entertainment at the Masonic hall, Tuesday evening, Oct. 1, under the auspices of Diamond Chapter, No. 14, O. E. S.

Mrs. Silas Bovee spent one day last week with Mrs. Oliver McCosco at West Danville.

Mrs. Addie Page of St. Johnsbury Center spent the week end at Alonzo Page's.

The Late Mrs. Farr

In the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Annette Farr, Danville loses one of its oldest inhabitants and the Congregational church one of its oldest and most loyal members. Had she lived 11 days longer she would have celebrated the 90th anniversary of her birth. Of old New England stock she forcefully possessed many of those elements of strength which characterized the early New England men and women—intelligence, industry, self-reliance, vigor and independence. But in no less degree she also shared those graces which make for pleasing personality and coveted friendship. She leaves a host of friends who mourn her death. Mrs. Elizabeth Annette (Stocker) Farr was born September 13, 1822, at Danville, and died Monday morning, Sept. 2 at six o'clock. In 1852, June 28, she was united in marriage to Hosea B. Farr and together they lived in Bradford until 1872, since which time she resided at Danville. Her husband died in 1887, and a child in infancy. Nephews and nieces who survive her are Mrs. Nellie Stocker, Mrs. Silas Stone and Mrs. Mary Keyser of Woodsville, N. H.; Frank, Fred and George Stocker and Newell Williams of Danville; Charles Williams of Peacham and Mrs. L. G. Burnham of Burlington. The funeral service was held at the house Wednesday at 2 p. m., Rev. J. F. Schneider officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Currier.

RECENT DEATHS.

Ward
Mrs. Osbourne Ward died at her home on Railroad street Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, after a lingering illness of nine years of infirmities of old age, although she was confined to her bed only a few hours. Adeline Larned was the oldest of seven children of William and Henriette (Adams) Larned and was born in Oxford, Mass., on July 21, 1820. At the age of ten years she moved to Barton with her parents, and she lived there until 1841 when she married Osbourne Ward of Danville at Stanard. Their early married life was spent in Wheelock, and in 1870 they moved to St. Johnsbury and she has lived here since. Her husband died 25 years ago and she was the last of the seven to go. She was a charter member of the Free Baptist church. The funeral was held Friday afternoon from her late home, Rev. E. E. Phillips, assisted by Rev. F. S. Tolman, officiating. The interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. The bearers were Dr. T. R. Stiles, O. H. Henderson, Frank A. Scott, and Amos W. Scott. Those from out of town that were called here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ward of Concord, Frank Ward of Burke, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and Mrs. Alvina Ward of Danville.

Gustin
Sarah A. Willey, wife of the late Isaac B. Gustin, died Thursday at her home on Central street. She had never been well since a fall she sustained five or six years ago and her death was undoubtedly due to the effects of that fall. She had been unable to walk for six months but was ill in bed since the Monday before her death only. She was born in Sheffield, October 8, 1834 and lived in Sheffield and in Manchester, N. H., and in St. Johnsbury for between 50 and 60 years. She was a regular attendant of the Free Baptist church as long as health permitted. Mr. Gustin died in 1895. The funeral was held Sunday from the house, Rev. Edward T. Fairbanks, D. D., officiating and the interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. William A. Brown of St. Johnsbury, one son, Eugene W. Gustin of New York, two brothers, Aaron Willey of Orleans, and Cyrus of Orleans and one sister, Mrs. Susan Bloss of Manchester, N. H.

Barrett
Sophia Dodge Barrett, widow of the late William G. Barrett of Concord, Mass., died at the home of her son, George P. Barrett, early Thursday morning after a lingering illness of infirmities of old age. Sophia Dodge was the daughter of Luke and Mary (Ellenwood) Dodge and was born in Concord, Mass., on March 27, 1821. She was united in marriage to William G. Barrett on June 17, 1845 in Concord, Mass., where they spent their married life. Four children were born to them, C. C. Barrett, now of Detroit, Mich., Edwin C. of Montpelier, Herbert M. of Asbury Park, Mass., and George P. of St. Johnsbury. Seventeen years ago Mr. Barrett died and since that time she has lived with her children, but for the past four years she has lived with George Barrett. About a month ago she went to Montpelier to visit her son there, and two weeks ago she became ill and came home. Since that time she has failed rapidly. Services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Sunday afternoon, Rev. B. F. Butler officiating, and the remains were taken to her old home in Concord on the midnight train, and the funeral was Monday.
